LOG LINES

December, 2007

Winter is here! I really hate frost and ice on my car windows, but I guess I'm stuck with it!

Lots of news since the last Log. The show season is pretty much over for many people. Year end banquets are just around the corner. Check out the information about banquets on later pages in the Log.

News from the Freeman barn showing at Jefferson, WI. this fall: Gail Schroeder's horse Big Bay Investment was the senior pleasure circuit champion. Mackenzi Sancken was the small fry circuit champion in showmanship. Chayna DeNicolo put on 10 points in one weekend with her new horse and was circuit champion in equitation & novice youth trail. She was also the all around youth that weekend. Great start with her new horse!!

I got a nice note from Sheree Sims who said our fall shows were the very first AQHA shows with my new 2-year old "Roll Yer Roan". She ended up getting both Novice and Amateur Showmanship points on her. It was the very first showmanship class she had ever won in her life and it was with a 2-year old. And she won $500 in the raffle—it was the icing on the cake! She had a wonderful weekend despite the heat.

At our fall show, Rich and Valued Asset finished their Am Performance ROM. Plenty of Mac and Ashley Trousdale earned their Am Performance ROM at that show too.

Ballots for 2008 officers and directors are included with your Log. Just as a reminder: Single memberships receive one vote. Family memberships receive two votes. Youth are not eligible to vote. Members outside the original boundaries (area 11) are eligible to vote for officers only. Vote for officers and the your area director only. Don't vote for other area directors.

Congress news

In the Horse Bowl contest on October 16th, the Illinois team ranked 6th out of 26 teams, and LLQHA member Carrie Huff ranked 1st in individual. Carrie was really excited to have a 1st place Congress medal. Congratulations! Great job!

Thanks to Ashley Trousdale for making up a list of all the LLQHA members who were top 10 or finalist at the Congress so far. The list probably isn't complete but here's what she saw at that point:

HK Kids Playmate & Lea Ann Bingham
5th Yearling Mares

Naturally Its George & Sarah Clinton
8th YA Performance Geldings
Finalist Novice YA Trail 13 & Under
Finalist YA Trail 12-14

3rd Novice YA Western Riding 14-18
6th Novice YA Trail 14-18

Deb Kluz also made the finals in Amateur Select Equitation on her horse Hesa Supernatural.

If we missed someone and you would like to let me know, I'll put something in the next Log.

Turkey Run News from Gordyville

Gail Schroeder's horse Big Bay Investment was collecting those performance halter points again. I hear her gelding was collecting more halter points than western pleasure points. What a nice added bonus that has turned out to be!

SAVE THE DATE!
LLQHA BANQUET

The banquet will be Sunday, Feb. 24th at Orchard Valley Restaurant in Aurora, IL. Mary Kay Gustafson will need to know a head count of those attending by Feb. 14th. So give her a call and tell her you are coming!

World Show News

Congratulations to LeaAnn Koch-Bingham for a reserve championships in Amateur Yearling Mares with HK Kids Playmate. The mare was also 8th in the open Yearling Mares. I hear her dad was pretty excited too! Also congratulations on a 5th place with her 3 year old gelding in Amateur 2004 Geldings with Wishinshewouldcall. Someone else liked the gelding so much that LeaAnn sold him to some people out of state. LeaAnn also had a weanling gelding (Wheres My Package) get 8th in Amateur Weanling Geldings. Also, congratulations to Nicole Barnes for representing our state so well with her horse Zippos Ace of Spades. She was World Champion in Amateur Showmanship, Reserve World Champion in Amateur Trail, 3rd place in Amateur Western Riding, and 9th in Amateur Horsemanship. She was reserve for the all around amateur at the World Show! Way to go! Alyce Miller showed her horse Am Thumbalita to a 5th place in Amateur Performance Mares. Great job!

Trail Riding in Galena

Illinois Quarter Horse Association sponsored a trail ride in Galena at the end of September that was attended by over 30 riders. The weather was fantastic; the facility had beautiful trails, the food was plentiful and tasted great! Ed Lawrence and his crew did a fabulous job arranging the whole event. Next year they are planning a trail ride in central Illinois. Watch for the information and see if it fits into your schedule. Join the people for beautiful scenery and good socializing. Your horse might like it too!

Carrie DeNicolò sent me a note about the LLQHA youth team telling me the youth team did a really good job. She was honored to be the Youth Advisor. She also would like to thank Renee Clinton for her assistance. Our team: Chayna DeNicolò, Sarah Clinton, Stephanie Clinton, and Stephanie Russell were excellent representatives of our organization.

The American Halter Horse Association officially opened Sept. 1st 2007. The newest Association would like to welcome halter breeders, trainers, exhibitors and enthusiasts to check out the available programs and services. The American Halter Horse Association was founded from a need to have a unified voice in the Halter Industry. The AHHA believes the Halter Industry was ready to have the Halter Horse reorganized as the competitor that it is, much like what has been accomplished with other disciplines (NCHA, NRHA, NSBA, etc.).

The American Halter Horse Association Articles of Incorporation were filed in March, 2007. The association meticulously planned the by-laws, rules and AHHA programs before announcing its official opening and availability to the community. Here are just a few of the benefits of the American Halter Horse Association:

Money Classes – AHHA will host four shows for 2008 which will all have money classes.

Membership Benefits – All new memberships will receive a Free Classified listing in the Breeding Farm or Ranch Listings, Halter Horses for Sale Listing, or Stallions at Stud

Registration – AHHA will register horses to record pedigrees, performance and lifetime earnings, and for horses that have lost their breed papers due to genetic abnormalities.

Halter Enrichment Program™ - This cutting-edge program is designed to reward Stallion and Foal Nominators, as well as benefits to the owner. All breeds from minis to draft horses are welcome.

The AHHA will work with the breed associations and judges in their breed to ensure halter standards are followed for that breed. All breeds should be judged according to their balance, conformation, breed character, sex character, muscle, refinement, travel, show and the animals overall control. The conformation standards for a POA would be significantly different that those of a draft breed or stock breed.

Classes will be breed specific except for Stock type (Quarter, Paint & Appaloosa) and a few gaited breeds.

Halter Open Competition – Show your horse at participating clubs and earn points toward your horse's lifetime earnings.

The American Halter Horse Association does not require any prequalification to register or compete. AHHA offers affordable memberships and levels of membership. A One Year membership is $25.00. Youth membership is $10.00, and a Lifetime membership is available for only $250.00. At the American Halter Horse Association. "Everybody's Welcome!" (Information compliments of the American Halter Horse Association.)

THE WORLD SHOW ON NBC

The 2007 AQHA World Championship Show is featured on four Web casts on the NBC Sports Web site. The junior and senior cutting and junior and senior reining finals from the FedEx open competition are the featured events.

National Cutting Horse Association Hall of Famer Bill Riddle of Ringling, Oklahoma, and National Reining Horse Association Futurity Champion Todd Bergen of Eagle Point, Oregon, serve as commentators along with Jim Bret Campbell, editor of The American Quarter Horse Journal, AQHA's official business publication.

NBC's coverage of the AQHA World Show continues with a one-hour broadcast on Saturday, January 12 at 5 p.m. AQHA Professional Horseman Robbie Boyce of Jacksboro, Texas, again will serve as analyst along with other NBC personalities including host Tim Ryan and reporter Donna Brothers. (Information compliments of the AQHA weekly newsletter.)

Horses from double-decker truck accident released

Forty-one horses that survived the tragic truck accident on October 27 on Hwy 41 in Wadsworth, IL, have begun to recover from their trauma and will be released to private homes beginning November 14, according to Donna Ewing, president, Hooved Animal Rescue and Protection Society (HARPS).

HARPS, a Barrington Hills-based organization, has been given ownership of the surviving horses by the Great West Casualty Insurance Company. Ewing reports that the organization has received more than 250 requests to adopt the young horses, some of the applicants from as far away as Sweden. The surviving horses include Belgians, Percherons and four Haflinger-type ponies.

"We are so heartened by the outpouring of offers from so many excellent homes," Ewing said.

The HARPS committee that evaluates adoption applications includes investigators, horse trainers and seven veterinarians, according to Ewing. The committee works to select applicants who are (a) most qualified and (b) located within a 50-mile radius of the farm where the horses are being nursed back to health.

Many of the surviving horses remain in need of extensive veterinary care, Ewing said. In addition to cuts on their legs and bodies, they are suffering from traumatic stress from the accident and from badly stressed immune systems, thanks to a cold-like virus associated with travel, trailers and sales barns.

"It is so difficult for us to decide who will be the lucky adopters of these gentle giants," says Ewing. "But it's wonderful for the horses! With more than 250 applications and only 41 horses, we feel sure that we will be able to place each animal in a competent, caring, horse-savvy home."

Ewing hopes that those applicants who aren't selected to adopt one of these horses will understand. For those local applicants who aren't selected, and for other applicants who simply live too far away to adopt a survivor of the Wadsworth accident, she has a suggestion: "Go to the sales barns and purchase one of the horses for sale there. Otherwise, these horses likely will have a horrible fate involving a miserably uncomfortable trip to Mexico or Canada where they ultimately will be slaughtered."

The 41 survivors will end up with good homes, unlike the many other horses that were on the road at the same time but weren't "lucky" enough to be in a transport accident, Ewing said. She is more determined than ever to make meaningful changes to current legislation. "We desperately need to amend the Federal Equine Transportation Law, which is woefully inadequate. It does not protect all equines from being transported in double-decker trucks, and that's just exactly what it should do," she says.

Laws ban the transportation of equines in double-decker trucks, but only under very specific conditions: The horses must be on their way to a slaughter house where the meat will be sold for human consumption. This means that many horses are still being crammed into double-decker transports and taken down the road to uncertain destinations for uncertain ends, Ewing said. Persons interested in adopting horses from the accident or others available at HARPS, may contact them at P.O. Box 94, Barrington, Illinois 60011-0843 or phone (847) 382-0503 (Information compliments of the Illinois Horse Council.)

IQHA
ILLINOIS QUARTER
HORSE ASSOCIATION

Illinois Quarter Horse Association is working with Land of Lincoln Quarter Horse Association to improve participation in both organizations in 2008.

- Both organizations work to promote the Quarter Horse breed
- Both organizations sponsor registered shows and approve shows sponsored by other organizations in Illinois
- Both organizations give year-end awards based on organization points earned at Illinois shows (LLQHA approves some shows in Wisconsin also)
- Both organizations sponsor a youth team to the Quarter Horse Congress
- IQHA is working on expanding the participation of non-show oriented horse enthusiasts
- The IQHA futurity has changed and expanded. Check their website for the new rules.

Join both organizations in 2008!
