LOG LINES

Jan. 2013

The holidays are over....except for all my holiday decorations. I just spent several hours working on storing them again for another year. There was a point when the house looked like a bomb exploded, but it's better now. And it's snowing outside! Well, so much for that warmer spell this morning! Back to reality.

Send me news if you have some. I don't have much. LeaAnn Koch had a note on Facebook that her first baby of the year has already been born. That one will definitely be in the "early" weanling classes. Santa brought me a new horse—merry Christmas to me from me. He's a 2 year old bay roan from Richland Ranch. No, he's not a Zippos Mr Goodbar, but he is out of a Goodbar mare. I'm going to try another young one, and a gelding this time. I'm a little tired of mares, I guess.

Year end award banquets are at this time of the year so there will be several—Illinois, Wisconsin, Badger, LLQHA. Check elsewhere in the Log for information about our banquet. Hope to see everyone there! The food is always good, the conversations lively, and the awards are always spectacular.

The new AQHA leveling program seems to be the topic of conversation right now. AQHA has several links on their website where you can find out information about you and your horse. Definitely check out the information. I'm going to include some of the information in this Log, but it will be of a general nature — not specific to each individual and each horse. Be prepared when you go to a show. Keep yourself informed! Know your points in particular classes and know your points from the past 3 years.

Every 4 years the AQHA calendar rolls many shows to a different weekend. The calendar at the Illinois fairgrounds doesn't agree with the AQHA calendar, of course. The IQHA spring shows lost the facility for 2013 and are moving to Gordyville. The weekend given to IQHYA for the youth shows didn't work either so those shows are moving to March. Lots of changes for IQHA also!

When you get your ballot you will notice that there is room for some new board members. If you are interested in being on the board please "write-in" your name. It's not a time-consuming position but it gives you a chance to have some input in the association.

The 2013 AQHA Handbook is divided into sections. For example, rules in the Shows section all start with SHW. Rules regarding AQHA shows and show approval are SHW100-134, while all racing rules begin with RAC and all registration-related rules begin with REG.

Among the rule changes you'll find in the 2013 AQHA Handbook are:

Leveling: The AQHA leveling program went go into full effect January 1, 2013. Classes will be leveled based on exhibitor records (youth, amateur, cattle and halter classes) and horse records (open classes). Leveling rules may be found in the SHW200 sequence of rule numbers.

Amateur Eligibility: Amateur eligibility changes were made effective May 25, 2012, and will be included in the 2013 handbook in the SHW200 sequence of rule numbers.

SHW416-419: Ranch pleasure will be offered in youth, amateur and open divisions at AQHA shows.

Ways to Access Your Handbook:

View the online version of the 2013 Handbook. The online version of the Handbook is updated as needed, so check back often. The online version of the Handbook is mobile optimized for easy viewing on your smart phone or tablet.

Request a mailed printed copy of the Handbook. (If you've participated in an AQHA show within the past two years, you will automatically receive a printed copy in the mail.)

There is an "app" for your smart phone that allows you to access the handbook also.

Alyssa Lombardi was a finalist in the NYATT showmanship at Congress.

AQHA NOVICE CHAMPIONSHIPS

WEST  EAST

Apologies to Makayla Maciejewski & Will Be Hot Sizzlin for missing her placings at the novice championship show. They were 8th in hunter under saddle and 7th in equitation! Sorry I missed the results.

LEVELING

The 2013 point ranges, which determine levels under the new AQHA leveling program, are available online. Full implementation of the AQHA leveling program started January 1, 2013. While leveling is not mandated for every AQHA show, all shows have the option to level classes.

Leveling breaks divisions – youth, amateur and open – into levels based on either horse or exhibitor records. Levels based on the exhibitor's record are:

- Rookie
- Novice
- Intermediate
- Open

Levels based on the horse's record are:

- Rookie
- Green
- Progressive
- Open

The March shows may change. AQHA seems to have changed its mind about approving the number of shows in those 2 March weekends.

Showing has changed in the last few years. More shows have been combined into larger circuits.

Traditionally LLQHA approves horse shows from March to the end of September. In 2012 one of the shows at Gordyville in November had been part of the Run to the Border shows. Some of the Feb. 2013 shows at Gordyville had also previously been Run to the Border shows. LLQHA would have to change that past approval time frame in order to approve those Feb. shows and/or future November shows. The 2013 ballot has a section to gather member preference for any possible change. Please look at the bottom of your ballot for the following opportunity to provide input:

One of the shows at the Gordyville Turkey Run in 2012 was formerly a Run to the Border show. Some of the shows at Gordyville in Feb. 2013 are formerly Run to the Border shows. In the past, LLQHA has started approval for year end points with the March Gordyville shows and stopped at the end of Sept., but since some of the shows outside that time frame are LLQHA shows, a change would have to be made in the approval time frame.

Which of the following options would you prefer:

1. leave the time frame the same (March to end of Sept.) _____
2. include Feb. but not Nov. _____
3. include Feb. and Nov. _____

Ballots will be mailed to members who receive their Lincoln Log electronically.
