Oshkosh shows

Dont BSB Me and Beth Manion won an amateur select HUS class of 16. LuAnn Meyer and My Details are Hot was circuit champ in Select showmanship. Famous in Time owned by Valerie Doubrawa was circuit champ in Green Trail. He also picked up points in Green Western Riding.

Congratulations to the 2011 NYATT Land of Lincoln Team!

Team members are Kamryn Kruchten, Lauren Brischke, Cori Flowers, and Rebecca Kopping. Kamryn and Cori will be competing in showmanship and horsemanship. Lauren and Rebecca will be competing in hunter under saddle. The NYATT competition takes place on Sunday, October 23, 2011 at the Quarter Horse Congress. NYATT stands for National Youth Activity Team Tournament and is a tournament for state and regional Quarter Horse youth teams to participate at the Congress in friendly competition. Please come out and cheer on this fine team! Good Luck Ladies!

Congress is coming and I don't want to miss anyone doing spectacular things there. So...send me information about how you did (if you are attending, of course).

Ed Lawrence at the Extreme Cowboy Race & Expo competition at Gordyville recently.

Now for the Race. Bottom line is – I finished with a respectable time and did not fall off during the bareback portion of the galloping free ride, so I felt I accomplished something. It was fantastic experience for my little cow pony and I had the best time ever considering the heat and humidity was beyond oppressive on Friday and Saturday. I nor Virtue had ever done anything like that before and they don't let you practice on the course before the race. But, she hung in there with me and only balked at two or three of the obstacles and did not refuse any of them. We brought the house down when we did our spins. We were only required to do two – one each way – I did 8, four very fast and very tight each way! Once a Reiner, always a Reiner!

I did darn near fall off when she had to do three jumps in succession. She'd never jumped any obstacles, let alone jumped them in an arena with a grandstand full of applauding people – so at that 3rd jump she said, "enough" and tried to sidestep at a fairly fast canter. I was not expecting that and nearly fell off but kept my seat and made her jump it – with the crowd going crazy with applause! I blew the obstacle where you are supposed to pick up a 5 gallon full water bucket from one barrel and take it to another and set it down. I was not expecting it to be so darn heavy and unwieldy. I let it go before placing it on the next barrel after it started to spill everywhere and I felt her getting nervous and jumpy. Oh well, I guess we'll just have to practice that idiotic maneuver. Who in the hell carries 5 gallons of water in a bucket on horseback during ranch work anyway?! I know we never did back on the farm.

And finally, with 20+ riders with scores in a range from 52 to 92 (out of a 100), we scored a 66+. I thought I DQ'd when I dropped the bucket! The judge said our spins, our tight and controlled loping over the starburst pole pattern, and our flying lead changes in pole bending helped us. Huh? All in all a great time. Not sure if I will do it again (too expensive and is not halter, my favorite), but gawd did I have a super good time!

Way to go, Ed!

Changes address class procedure, lip chains and horse manners.

AQHA exhibitors are reminded that several halter class rule modifications passed by the Show Committee at the 2011 AQHA Convention and approved by the AQHA Executive Committee are effective August 1. Journal photo.

AQHA exhibitors are reminded that several halter class rule modifications passed by the Show Committee at the 2011 AQHA Convention and approved by the AQHA Executive Committee are effective August 1.

"These modifications were made after long discussions and several years' review by the Show Committee," says Charlie Hemphill, AQHA senior director of shows and new events. "The changes were made effective as of that date to allow them to be in place for the 2011 Built Ford Tough AQHYA World Championship Show."

The pertinent halter class modifications include:

Lip Chains

Modifications to Rule 448(d) include the definition of "allowed" lip chains in size, dimension, length and type, along with an explanation of the correct placement of the lip chain in a horse's mouth.

The rule also stipulates that stallions 1 year of age and older may be shown with an allowed lip chain in open and amateur divisions; mares and geldings that are 1 year of age and older may be shown with an allowed lip chain in amateur and youth divisions.

The rule states that the following horses may not be shown with an allowed lip chain: weanlings, any horse shown in a performance halter class, and any horse shown in a versatility ranch horse conformation class.

Show up at the arena as a professional horseman, prepared to care for your equine athlete's emergencies and health-care needs while away from home. Shop for your equine first-aid kit from EquiMedic USA Inc. Eight complete kits to choose from.

Conduct and Manners

Rule 448(d) also includes this phrase: "Applying excessive pressure on or excessive jerking of a halter lead shank or an allowed lip chain is prohibited." In addition, the following phrase was added to the list of prohibited conduct in Rule 441(c): "excessive pressure on or excessive jerking of a halter lead shank or an allowed lip chain (see Rule 448(d))."

Modifications to Rule 448(e) include a description of a "well-mannered horse" as being under the exhibitor's control while tracking and standing and that stands still and flat-footed. The new modifications also include a description of "disruptive behavior" in a horse that should be cause for disqualification by the judge.

"AQHA rules are designed to encourage owners to enjoy their horses in a variety of arenas, while also ensuring that horses are treated humanely and with respect," says Tom Persechino, AQHA executive director of competition and breed integrity. "Any rule change the Show Committee ultimately recommends goes through a stringent review process with those goals in mind."

Bit-Buying Tips

Keep these tips in mind when shopping for your next bit.

Choose a bit that will not pinch your horse's mouth.

Buying a bit for your horse can be intimidating. There are thousands of styles and brands out there to choose from. To help you narrow down your choice, Tom Balding, Billy Klapper and Greg Darnall offer this advice:

- ◆ Choose a branded bit. The brand gives a guarantee of the product, and if there is a problem with the bit, you have someone to go back to.
- ◆ Run your hands over the bit to give yourself an idea of what it will feel like in the horse's mouth and to ensure that there are no sharp points or rough edges that could injure the horse.
- ◆ Make sure the bit's joints move smoothly and freely but are not overly loose. You want close-fitting, nonpinching joints.
- ◆ Check the symmetry of the bit and make sure that one side is not heavier or lighter than the other side.

Here are a few things to avoid in a bit:

- Poorly shaped mouthpieces
- Uneven size and shape of mouthpieces
- Oversized joints in the shank and mouthpiece
- Uneven size and shape of shanks
- Off-centered ports
- O-rings that are not round
- Bent or uneven shanks
- Straight pieces that are not straight
- Sharp points and rough areas
- Places that will pinch
- Cheek pieces too high or low
- Poor quality metals
- Improper angles
- Irregular or discolored metals

At the show's start, entries were up by 1,000 over the 2010 Region Three Championship. The show continues to be a great place to try new AQHA classes, attend free clinics and just have fun showing your horse.

Once again, several new exhibitors came to Region Three, as it has become the "have to attend" AQHA show of the upper Midwest. Once people come, they keep coming back!

Mary Cram, Region Three Committee member representing the Wisconsin Quarter Horse Association, explained how she felt horse showing benefited her daughter Meghan as she grew up showing her gelding, The Clue Connection: "Everything Meghan needs to know to be a good, productive adult, she learned from her experiences showing her American Quarter Horse." Meghan was one of the first high-point all-around saddle winners at Region Three and has returned every year to compete.

Tiffany Stauffer of Plum City, Wisconsin, had been making plans to attend the Region Three Championships since 2010, after friends insisted she come. She had planned to show a horse in western pleasure. But as things sometimes don't go as planned, Tiffany found herself bringing Im Skippin Royal instead – for the over-fence classes. She had only been jumping the sorrel for two weeks and placed third in youth working hunter.

AQHA Professional Horsewoman Rhonda Spratto of Pickett, Wisconsin, presented a clinic on hunt seat equitation Thursday morning. Stacey Roberson of Lees Summit, Missouri, held a clinic on showmanship, with both clinics full of participants eager to learn and improve their skills prior to showing.

Sunshine peaked through clouds and disappeared again on the morning of July 15 as the halter horses began the day showing. Exhibitors found themselves hunting for comfortable (dry, warm) spots as they waited and prepared for their classes. Rabo Agri Finance sponsored an afternoon watermelon feed.

Exhibitors enjoyed a barbecue supper exhibitor party; they picked up plates and headed to the arena to watch the showmanship as they ate. Novice amateur showmanship, with 50 entries, has been the largest class so far at this year's Region Three. The novice youth 14-18 showmanship saw 48 entries come through the gate.
